19th Sunday in Ordinary Time

This is the third of five Sundays focused on Jesus as the bread of life.

FIRST READING: Elijah is walking in the footsteps of Moses, bound for Horeb, the mountain of God. He falters along the way, and sits under a tree, ready to die. His exclamation "I am no better than my fathers" might be read as, "I am not as good as those who came before me on this path—Moses and Joshua" (1 Kings 19:4). God's angel provides him with food, and urges him along. Elijah eats and obeys, and continues his symbolic journey. Forty days and nights bring him to the holy mountain, where he will encounter God not as his ancestors did—in terrifying fire, earthquake, and trumpet blast—but in a still, small voice, a tiny, whispering sound.

Readings continued on Pg. 6

ASSUMPTION OF MARY

Saturday, August 15
A Holy day
Without Obligation
Mass: 8:30 a.m.

That Solemnity of the Assumption celebrates Mary's entrance into heaven, body and soul. Mary is the first among the faithful to be fully redeemed because of her perpetually sinless state. Mary, because of her relationship to her Son, shares, through privileged anticipation, in the grace of the resurrection of the dead. Mary does not have to endure the suspension of eternal life until the resurrection of the dead.

The assumption of Mary was declared a dogma of faith to be believed by faithful Catholics, by Pope Pius XII on Nov. 1, 1950. The Solemnity is a holy day but not a holy day of obligation.

RESPONSORIAL PSLAM 34 echoes the First Reading closely, as the "afflicted man" calls out to the Lord (34:7). Elijah tasted bread and water; the psalm invites us to "taste and see" the Lord's goodness (refrain).

SECOND READING: Ephesians gives a sad catalogue of the kind of behavior by which we not only hurt each other but "grieve" the Holy Spirit (Ephesians 4:30). We are to be compassionate and forgiving—Christ-like. We may sometimes respond as Elijah did, feeling unworthy to follow in the footsteps of Christ, but as God's beloved children, we must pick ourselves up again and trust in God to provide.

THE GOSPEL carries us deeper into the Bread of Life discourse. We begin to see that the new bread from heaven is at the very heart of the mystery. No one can come to Jesus, the bread of life, unless God the Father first draws him. To Jesus' listeners, familiar with stories of God feeding his chosen ones, the idea of bread from heaven was familiar—comfortable. But at the end of the reading, Jesus says, "the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world" (John 6:51), which may have made them uncomfortable. In the readings for the next two Sundays we will ask the same question that the people of Capernaum ask: How can this man give us his flesh to eat?
