In today's Gospel, Jesus once again speaks to the priests and elders with a parable. In this parable, the landowner leases his vineyard to tenants and sends his servants to collect the portion of the harvest that the tenants owe to him. Several times the servants are sent to collect payment, and each time they are beaten and killed by the tenants. Finally, the landowner sends his son to collect his rent. The tenants, believing that they will inherit the vineyard if the landowner dies without an heir, plot together and kill the landowner's son. After telling the parable, Jesus questions the chief priests and elders about what the landowner will do to the wicked tenants. They all agree that the landowner will kill the wicked tenants and give the land to new tenants who will pay the rent.

In telling the parable, Jesus is clearly drawing upon Isaiah 5:1-7, which is today's first reading and one that the priests and elders would have known well. Jesus doesn't, therefore, have to explain the symbolism of the parable; the Pharisees would have understood that the vineyard represented Israel, the landowner represented God, the servants represented the prophets, and the bad tenants represented the religious leaders. Yet Jesus nonetheless explains the meaning of the parable for his audience: the Kingdom of God will be taken from the unbelieving and given to the faithful. The chief priests and elders have condemned themselves with their answer to Jesus' question.

Today's Gospel has a parallel in Mark 12:1-12. There are some notable differences, however. In Matthew's version, the religious leaders condemn themselves; in Mark's Gospel, Jesus answers his own question. Matthew names the religious leaders as Pharisees and chief priests. Clearly this Gospel shows the tension that was mounting between Jesus and the Jewish religious leaders who thought that his message was dangerous. Matthew's Gospel was written about 70 years after Jesus' death and reflects the conflicts and tensions found in the Christian community for whom Matthew was writing. Many biblical scholars believe that the tension between Matthew's community and their Jewish neighbors can also be heard in today's reading.

This Gospel reminds us of the importance of listening to God's word. God speaks to us in many ways—through Scripture, through our Church tradition, in our Church's teaching, and through modern-day prophets. Are we attentive and receptive to God's word to us through these messengers?

October 12th Program on Vatican Agency's Work in Middle East & Other Regions & Cardinal's Refugee Resettlement Initiative. Please mark your calendar

You are invited to an informational and discernment program that will take place in St. Peter's room on Thursday, October 12, 7:30 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. on: the scriptural basis for "welcoming the alien and stranger"; the current circumstances of some vulnerable international regional populations by Vatican agency speakers; and, a description of Cardinal Joseph Tobin's initiative for the resettlement of 51 refugee families by a representative from the Archdiocesan Office of Catholic Charities.

The St. Thomas ministries that are co-sponsoring this event include: The Rosary Society, Men's Cornerstone, the Young Adult/Youth Group, and the Holy Name Society.

Speakers are experienced in refugee resettlement from the Archdiocese and in providing international aid to all from a Vatican agency, the Catholic Near East Welfare Association (CNEWA), founded by Pope Pius XI in 1926 to do pastoral and relief work in the Middle East, Northeast Africa, Eastern Europe, and India.

Recognition will be given for the local refugee resettlement efforts of Sacred Heart Church, St. Teresa of Calcutta and The Greater Bloomfield Interfaith Partnership.

No fee will be charged for attendees, but a request will be made for a free-will offering which will be split between CNEWA and the Archdiocese resettlement office.

The Feast of St. Francis

Saint Francis, faithful to Scripture, invites us to see nature as a magnificent book in which God speaks to us and grants us a glimpse of his infinite beauty and goodness. 'Through the greatness and the beauty of creatures one comes to know by analogy their maker' (Wis 13:5); indeed, 'his eternal power and divinity have been made known through his works since the creation of the world' (Rom 1:20). For this reason, St. Francis asked that part of the friary garden always be left untouched, so that wild flowers and herbs could grow there, and those who saw them could raise their minds to God, the Creator of such beauty. "Rather than a problem to be solved, the world is a joyful mystery to be contemplated with gladness and praise." (Pope Francis: Laudato Si' 12)

This is a simple prayer in the spirit of St. Francis:
God of all creation, we thank you for the abundant gifts you have given us—the gift of your unconditional love, the gift of each other and the gift of all created things. We praise you for your generosity and your loving care for us. We hear your call to us to live in right relationship with each other and with creation. Help us to always be mindful of how our actions affect your gifts—for good or for bad. We ask this in the name of your Son, our Redeemer, and in your Holy Spirit. Amen.
